

Thank you for choosing the writing center. We are still here to help!
writingcenter@holmescc.edu

Since face to face sessions are not possible right now, the writing center staff is offering the following options to serve you:

1. Share your Google Docs file with the writing center email address (writingcenter@holmescc.edu), and when you share your document, include a note to let us know that you would like to work on Google Docs in real time with your tutor. (For example, using the comment or chat function, the tutor suggests a correction or asks a question, and you respond in real time.) You can determine what time you would like to be online, and the tutor will meet you on your Google doc.

Real Time Google Docs Sessions are available Monday through Friday between 9:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m.

2. Share your Google Docs file with the writing center email, and you will receive feedback on your work from one of our tutors within 24 hours.*

We need to receive your email by noon on Saturdays to guarantee feedback on Sundays.

3. If you are not comfortable using Google Docs, you can send your Microsoft Word document or PDF to the writing center email and receive feedback on your work from one of our tutors within 24 hours.
4. You may also email the writing center specific questions about research, MLA or APA citation styles, and advice about any and all parts of your writing assignments.

If you have any questions about these options, feel free to email us at writingcenter@holmescc.edu.

We look forward to serving you!
